

A Dweller on Two Planets - Frederick Spencer Oliver

A Dweller on Two Planets; or, The Dividing of the Way Fredrick Spencer Oliver

A channeled autobiography of a spirit calling himself Phylos the Thibetan. The setting is Atlantis with a first person account of Atlantean culture including its technology and the social, economic, political and religious structures that shaped Poseid society. Daily life for Poseidi citizens included such things as antigravity powered air craft and submarines, television, among many other wonders. The personal history also touches upon deep esoteric subjects including karma and re-incarnation and the ultimate destruction of this "fantastic" world. - Summary by Christine Rottger
